

FIGHTING FOR CENTRAL VALLEY FARMERS

As a dairy farmer, David understands the challenges that our farmers and ranchers face as a part of California's competitive agriculture industry. It is critical to ensure California remains an agricultural leader that provides good careers for the Central Valley and food for the world.

California's diverse agricultural economy is a $35 billion-dollar industry that produces over 400 commodities and accounts for over a half of our nation's fruits and vegetables. We need to ensure our farmers and ranchers have the tools they need to produce our food supply and that they continue to remain competitive internationally.
