

ENSURING THE VALLEY'S FUTURE

As the father of three, David understands that every child learns differently and needs to have access to a quality, affordable education that works for them.

A "one-size-fits-all" approach of Washington bureaucrats only hinders the education of our nation's children. Parents and educators should have the resources and flexibility to provide an education that meets the needs of their community and each individual student. Education should be more comprehensive at all levels and David supports expanding vocational and trade school options for our students. David believes that education is the pathway to success and that everyone should have access to the tools they need to accomplish their goals.
